Program

- Dr Gerhardt introduces us to Ms Jackie Dieekman – volunteer docent at Cincinnati Zoo. Her program concerned the CREW program. CREW stands for “Center for the Research of Endangered Wildlife”. Her power point program showed the use of scientific research to determine how to preserve endangered plants and animals. She showed our Cincinnati Zoo is a leader in how to help preserve endangered plants and reintroduce them back into the wild.

This program is also used for endangered animals, small cats, polar bears, and rhino's. The use of research and scientific methods can save and preserve animals we might lose forever. Once again, Cincinnati Zoo leads the way...

Next week's speaker will be John Morris Russel – Director of the Cincinnati Zoo's

Bulletin writer, Retired Chief Donald Clark
