Program

Tim Sullivan introduced our speakers Jack Jose Principal of Gambel Montessori High School and Krista Taylor a teacher at Gamble Montessori.

They are co-authors of “Angels and Superhero’s”.

Jack discussed the difficult climate they and the students find themselves in today with heighten Security. Going through metal detectors does not make the school feel like a pleasant place to be, more like a prison some students have said. Teachers have not been trained to be policemen.

Jack mentioned that their school rating by the State of Ohio has dropped from the top spot they enjoyed a few years ago. Nothing has changed except their report card from the State has changed 2 times and the Tests have changed 3 times in just a few years.

Krista Taylor a 7th grade teacher gave us a couple of examples of students who came to Gamble with problems. Bright students who has lost their way and just were not achieving. It was uplifting to hear about the progress these students made throughout this year. This what education is supposed to be about.
